Government Reviews

Environmental Planning & Assessment Act

The Environmental Planning & Assessment Act (EP&A Act) was written in 1979 and outlines how decisions are made about what people can do with their land.

A review is being undertaken by former Ministers The Hon Tim Moore & The Hon Ron Dyer and they are seeking views on what should be the broad underpinning principles of legislation to replace the Act.

A statewide listening & consultation process is occurring and sessions will be held in Ballina on 29 September and Murwillumbah on 30 September.

At the end of this consultation process, the panel will produce an initial discussion paper setting out the results of the consultation and what the panel thinks should be the principles considered for the new planning system. The consultation process will run until mid-November 2011 and the discussion paper is expected to be released in early December 2011.

Future stages of the review for 2012 include:

- Release of an options paper; and
- Release of a 'white paper' with detailed policy options (and draft legislation) followed by the introduction of a bill into the NSW Parliament.

Further information can be found at www.planningreview.nsw.gov.au

Livestock Health & Pest Authority

Landholders, farmers and the public are being encouraged to have their say on the review of the NSW Livestock Health & Pest Authority (LHPA) model.

An Issues Paper has been released and identifies some of the major areas which will be considered and also provides some guidance in making a submission.

Submissions must be received by 30 September to either secretary@lhpareview.com.au or

Secretariat - LHPA Review
PO Box 8731
GUNDAROO NSW 2620.

The Issues Paper can be found at www.dpi.nsw.gov.au/aboutus/about/legislation-acts/review/lhpa

Health & Medical Research Strategic Plan

A discussion paper has been released which will lead to the development of the state's first Health & Medical Research Strategic Plan.

The Issues Paper brings together more than 200 submissions from institutions and individuals and is now available for public comment.

Submissions close on 26 September and copies of the paper can be found at www.health.nsw.gov.au/omr/review

Regional and Rural School Bus Safety

The independent chair of the School Bus Safety Community Advisory Committee is calling for public submissions as part of work to examine school bus safety in regional and rural NSW.

Parents, schools, bus drivers, bus companies, students and other individuals and groups are invited to have their say on the issue.

Transport Minister Gladys Berejiklian established the School Bus Safety Community Advisory Committee to examine issues relating to the safe transportation of children to and from school.

The committee consists of road safety experts, transport operators, parents and school representatives and the Independent Chair is Carolyn Walsh - a Commissioner of the Australian Transport Safety Bureau.

Terms of reference are:

- Assess the status of school bus safety in regional and rural NSW;
- Consider the full range of school bus safety measures, with reference to national and international experience;
- Recommend the most effective ways to make school bus travel as safe as possible.

The closing date for submissions is 23 September 2011.

Submissions can be submitted via email to: carolynwalshnsw@gmail.com or mailed to:

- a. The effectiveness of school zones in reducing pedestrian casualties during school zone times;
- b. The major contributing factors to pedestrian casualties in school zones;
- c. Age as a factor in pedestrian crash risk and the major contributing factors for casualties by age cohort around school zones;
- d. The deployment of alternative facilities to reduce reliance on school zones, such as grade separation, traffic lights and fencing;
